Crescent City high and graded school ord of 25 years as rector of this church, will be held at the Auditorium on next out I will leave some two months before Thursday evening, May 26th, at 7:30. These exercises, which will consist of a farce comedy, readings, music, etc., should attract the general public. The chool year just closing has been most successful, both in point-of attendance and general advancement, and all Crescent City people are or should be proud of our most excellent school. Turn out to these closing exercises and show our interest.

Redmond B. Gautier, a former Cresent City boy and eldest son of C. H. Gautier, was one of four candidates for epresentative in the legislature from Dade county. Mr. Gautier, who lives at Miami, came out second in the first primary and will enter alone in the second primary, on June 7th, with that reteran politician John W. Watson, who has served several terms in the lower branch of the legislature, having repre sented both Osceola and Dade counties. As he is looked upon as an out-and-oucorporation man and Mr. Gautier is the opposite, the latter has a good chance of winning.

There is more building going on in Crescent City at present than at any other time in 25 years and the steady growth of the place during all that time seems to have taken a spurt that if continued will soon land it in a class to command notice. At present, beside the fine bungalow home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hurlbut now nearly completed, residences are being erected for I. E. Lorick, R. O. Burton, Victor Smiley, Mrs. Holly and S. E. Neal-these in addition to the already completed homes of Capt. Geo. S. Crotty, F. S. Cone and the more recently completed house built by K. Borson for Mr. C. T. King. #### Rev. Dr. Geo. H. Ward Resigns.

There has been a rumor on the street or the past three weeks that Rev. G. H. Ward, S. T. B., for nearly 25 years rector of the Episcopal church here, had tendered his resignation. The News made an effort on the 9th inst. to see Dr. Ward, but failing to see him asked one of the vestrymen of the church concerning the report. He said it was

Last Saturday, the 14th inst., however, the News man met Dr. Ward, to whom he repeated the report and asked concerning it. Dr. Ward said in reply:

"Yes, it is true. When I returned from the north last fall, though my health was some better, I felt that there was nothing permanent in the improvement; that I would have to go away again, and that my absence for so long would be an injustice to the church. I therefor sent my resignation to the bishop in November of last year, the same to take effect the coming Septemper. I have had offers of other and larger parishes, but for the present will not accept any of them, devoting my time to supply work over the diocese as my strength permits. I have my home refused a flattering offer of a parish at Key West. If I should remain here un-The commencement exercises of the til November next, I would have a rec-

Dr. Ward assumed the pastorate of this parish in November 1885, and is well-known to the people of all denominations, and by many of us is regarded as the "pastor of the town," a title he has earned by his long and faithful service. He has married our young people and stood at the bier of our dead with words of consolation and hope, and his passing from the active work of the ministry will be learned with regret. dr. The Sorrow That Consumed Bichat When He Was Dying.

Over a century ago died Xavier Bichat, the famous physician and anatomist, author of "L'Anatomie Generale." He probably dissected more human corpses than any other man in the world's history. He established a record when be opened 625 bodies during one winter.

Of his nerve a tale is told. When he lay on his deathbed he called his colleagues to him and said: "Dear friends. I am done, but what comforts me is the fact that my case is a remarkable one. I have had unusual symptoms for some days which I Lave analyzed. They have greatly sur-prised me." The doctors sought to reassure him. He answered that he was under no illusion with regard to himself. "I shall die fairly satisfied with my life and go to the grave with only one regret, one great sorrow."

"What is that?" he was asked. "I am distressed that after death 1 cannot dissect my own body. I could, I am certain, have made some beautiful scientific discoveries." Then he sank back, murmuring: "I must not think about it. It won't bear thinking of."-Westminster Gazette.

The Pearl Hunters' Superstition. The pearl hunters of Borneo and the adjacent islands have a peculiar superstition. When they open shells in search of pearls they take every ninth find, whether it be large or small, and put it into a bottle, which is kept corked with a dead man's finger. The pearls in the vial are known as "seed pearls" or "breeding pearls," and the native Borneose firmly believes that they will reproduce their kind. For every pearl put into the vial two grains of rice are thrown in for the pearls to "feed upon." Some whites in Borneo believe as firmly in the superstition as the natives do, and almost every but along the coast has its "dead finger" bottle, with from nine That no results follow does not dim the superstition.

The Wonderful Toad Bone. All early writers attribute wonderful qualities to tonds and frogs and the various parts of their bodies. Pliny believed, for instance, that if a tond was brought into the midst of a mob or other large and unruly concourse of people "silence would instantly prevail." A small bone found in the right side of toads "of the proper age" was also believed to have powers over the various elements. "By throwing this bone into a vessel of boiling water," says Pliny, "it will immediately cool it, the water refusing to boil again until the bone has been removed. To find this bone, expose the dead toad on an ant bill. When the ants have eaten her all away except the bones, take each bone separately and drop it into boiling water. Thus may the wondrous toad bone be discovered."
